

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上接D6版)'. It lists various financial products and their associated details.