

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, including names, IDs, and amounts. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories of disclosures or entities.