

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上续D146版)'. It lists various companies and their associated financial metrics across multiple columns.