

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a header like '(上续D15版)'. Each row contains numerical data and text descriptions of financial products or company information.