

Table with multiple columns containing fund codes, names, and other details. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different fund categories or regions. Each row contains a unique identifier, a fund name, and various numerical and categorical data points.