

(上接C25版)

Table with multiple columns containing company names, codes, and financial data. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories of companies or financial metrics. Each row contains a small number, a company name, a code, and several numerical values.

(下转C27版)