

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上接C44版)'. It lists various financial metrics and company information across multiple rows.