

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into several sections, with the first section labeled '(上接 C53 版)'. It lists various financial products and their associated details.