

Table with multiple columns containing company names, fund codes, and financial data. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a header row. The data includes various types of securities and financial instruments.