

(上接C35版)

Main table containing financial data, fund names, and company information. The table is organized into columns with headers for various categories and contains numerous rows of data.