

(上接C12版)

Table with multiple columns containing fund names, codes, and financial data. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a fund name and code. The data includes various financial metrics such as assets, liabilities, and performance indicators. The table is dense and contains a large volume of text.