

(上接 C19 版)

Table with multiple columns containing fund names, codes, dates, and other financial details. The table is organized into two main sections: the left section lists various funds and their details, while the right section lists individuals and their associated information.