

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上接C30版)'. It contains numerous rows of data, likely representing a list of companies or financial transactions.