

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories of companies or financial metrics.