

(上接C9版)

Table with multiple columns containing fund names, codes, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a fund name and code. The data includes various types of funds such as equity funds, bond funds, and money market funds, along with their respective codes and dates.