

(上接C20版)

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories of disclosures or companies. Each row contains detailed information including company names, dates, and numerical values.

(下转C22版)