

(上接C15版)

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a company name and a list of entries. The columns include various financial metrics and dates.