

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and dates. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上接C13版)'. It lists various financial metrics and company information across multiple rows.